

For Immediate Release

Contact

Aaron Blank, CEO & President, The Fearey Group
ablank@feareygroup.com

GLY Construction Heartbroken by Accident, Cooperating Fully

BELLEVUE, Wash. (April 28, 2019) – GLY issued the following statement:

We are deeply saddened and heartbroken by what happened at our job site on the northwest corner of Mercer and Fairview in Seattle's South Lake Union neighborhood. Our sympathy and deepest condolences go out to the families, friends and colleagues of those who were killed in this tragic accident. We are hopeful for those who have been injured and wish that they return to full health as quickly as possible.

GLY and its sub-contractors involved with this tower crane accident are doing everything we can to investigate the incident. We are cooperating fully with investigators and assisting the local authorities. At this early stage of the investigation, we have no further details. We will share additional information as it becomes available.

All inquiries regarding the tower crane accident should be directed to the authorities at this time. PR inquiries on behalf of GLY can be directed to Aaron Blank at ablank@feareygroup.com.

###

About GLY

Rooted in the Pacific Northwest culture of innovation and creativity, GLY is one of the most respected locally-owned general contractors, celebrating 50 years in 2017. Projects span a wide range of markets, and the firm is known for adapting thoughtfully and purposefully, building on a strong foundation of smart technology, integrated delivery, LEAN practices and responsible sustainability. Collaborative teams have a diverse skill set comprised of design, engineering, architecture, construction management and strong field technical capabilities. GLY is committed to offering every employee the opportunity to learn, grow, and achieve their full potential.

Visit www.gly.com